SUPERVISION RECEIVED AND EXERCISED

CLASS CHARACTERISTICS

Materials Diversion Technician I: This is the entry-level classification in the diversion maintenance series. Initially under close supervision, incumbents with basic maintenance experience learn the use of tools, equipment, and a wide variety of practices and procedures involved in the operation and maintenance of disposal facilities. As experience is gained, assignments become more varied and are performed with greater independence. Positions at this level usually perform most of the duties required of the positions at the II level but are not expected to function at the same skill level and usually exercise less independent discretion and judgment in matters related to work procedures and methods. Work is usually supervised while in progress and fits an established structure or pattern. Exceptions or changes in procedures are explained in detail as they arise.

Materials Diversion Technician II: This is the journey-level class in the diversion maintenance series that performs the full range of duties required to ensure that materials diversion facilities are maintained in a safe and effective working condition and provides safety for public and Authority use. Responsibilities include inspecting and attending to assigned areas in a timely manner and performing a wide variety of tasks in the maintenance and repair of assigned facilities and systems. Positions at this level are distinguished from the I by the performance of the full range of duties as assigned, working independently, and exercising judgment and initiative. Positions at this level receive only occasional instruction or assistance as new or unusual situations arise and are fully aware of the operating procedures and policies of the assignments. This class is distinguished from the Supervisor in that the latter is responsible for providing technical and functional supervision and direction to lower-level maintenance staff and performs the most complex duties assigned to the series.

Materials Diversion Technician III: This is the advanced journey-level class in the diversion maintenance series that performs the full range of duties required to ensure that materials diversion facilities are maintained in a safe and effective working condition and provide the highest level of safety for public and Authority use. Responsibilities include complex heavy equipment operation including excavators and loaders in addition to performing a wide variety of tasks in the maintenance and repair of assigned facilities and systems. Positions at this level are distinguished from the II by the operation of more complex heavy equipment. Positions at this level receive only occasional instruction or assistance as new or unusual situations arise and are fully aware of the operating procedures and policies of the assignments. This class is distinguished from the Supervisor in that the latter is responsible for providing technical and functional supervision and direction to lower-level maintenance staff and performs the most complex duties assigned to the series.

Positions in the Materials Diversion Technician class series are flexibly staffed and positions at the higher level are normally filled by advancement from the lower level after gaining the knowledge, skill, and experience which meet the qualifications, after demonstrating the ability to perform the full range of work of the higher-level class, and meeting performance standards.
